Meeting ID: 686 286 200

Passcode: SOCI312

You will need your TAMU NetID and password to join the Zoom session.

Recorded lectures: <http://www.youtube.com/c/ErnestoAmaralPhD>

Face-to-face lectures will be recorded and uploaded to the YouTube channel after the end of each class session.

Instructor details

Instructor: Ernesto F. L. Amaral, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology
(<http://www.ernestoamaral.com>)

Office: Academic Building 415
(<https://aggiemap.tamu.edu/?bldg=0462>)

Phone: (979)845–9706

Email: amaral@tamu.edu

Office hours: <https://tamu.zoom.us/my/amaral>

I will provide office hours by appointment. Students must request appointments by email at least 72 hours in advance. When you enter this Zoom session, you will be placed in a waiting room. I will add you to the chat after I finish talking to the previous student.

Course description

The main objective of this course is to introduce concepts in demography, related to the three components of fertility, mortality, and migration. This is an introduction to the sociological study of populations (social demography). Demography is the scientific study of human populations and the changes in size, composition, and distribution of these populations. Discussions about demographic issues will be linked to the methods needed to analyze these topics. In recent years, few issues in the world are as important as population growth and change.

This course will cover topics related to population growth and decline, age-sex composition, data sources, and the association between demographic transition and economic outcomes. We will present general concepts on periods and cohorts, Lexis diagram, mortality measures, epidemiological transition, causes of mortality decline, life tables, period measures, and behavioral and policy influences on health. The course will address trends and differentials in fertility, proximate determinants of fertility, period measures, and tempo-quantum effects. The classes on migration will evaluate trends and differentials in population flows, estimation of migration rates, urbanization, and effects on receiving and sending areas. We will also cover demographic projections, age structure transition, changes in household composition, labor force participation, and population policies.

Course prerequisites

None.

Course learning outcomes

Upon successfully completing this course, students should be able to:

- Identify main concepts and methods in demography, related to fertility, mortality, and migration.
- Explain links between demographic changes, economic outcomes, and public policy issues.
- Evaluate general demographic trends throughout the world, based on publicly available secondary data.
- Perceive, analyze, and discuss the dynamics of human populations.
- Investigate population issues from the perspective of the social sciences.

Textbook and resource materials

The following textbook is required for this course. There are several options to buy or rent (new, used or digital) copies of this book. As a student at Texas A&M you are not under any obligation to purchase a textbook from a university affiliated bookstore. The same textbook may also be available from independent retailers, including online retailers.

Poston, Dudley L.; Bouvier, Leon F. 2017. Population and Society: An Introduction to Demography. New York: Cambridge University Press. 2nd edition. (P)

Via the course website, I will provide files containing this syllabus, slides, extra readings, exams, databases, external links, and other materials, which will be uploaded throughout the semester.

Grading policy

Grading scale: The course follows the standard rules of the university regarding the letter grading scale (<http://student-rules.tamu.edu/rule10>).

Assessment	Percent of final grade	Details	Grading scale	Percent
Exam 1	20%	40 questions, 0.5 points per question	A	90–100%
Exam 2	20%	40 questions, 0.5 points per question	B	80–89%
Exam 3	20%	40 questions, 0.5 points per question	C	70–79%
Final exam	20%	40 questions, 0.5 points per question	D	60–69%
Quizzes and assignments	26%		F	0–59%
Total	106%	Including extra credit activities

Exams will be given online on Canvas (1–8pm) and will consist of multiple-choice questions and others. The dates are available in the calendar of activities of this syllabus. There will be no face-to-face classes on exam days. See more information about Student Rules regarding examinations via the following link (<http://student-rules.tamu.edu/rule08>).

The Final exam will be given online on Canvas (1–8pm) and will consist of multiple-choice questions and others. The date is available in the calendar of activities of this syllabus. This exam will be given during final examinations week in accordance with the schedule published by the Office of the Registrar (<http://registrar.tamu.edu/Courses,-Registration,-Scheduling/Final-Examination-Schedules>).

Quizzes will be available on Canvas (from 4:30pm of the class day until 12pm of the following day) and will consist of multiple-choice questions and/or other types of questions. The dates are available in the calendar of activities of this syllabus. Students will answer the quiz online on Canvas after class hours. The content of the quiz can cover any topic we discussed throughout the course up to the day of the quiz. You will be allowed to look at your notes and class material to answer the questions.

Students should read instructions about online quizzes, exams, and final exam before starting them on Canvas. This is the online exam guide (http://www.ernestoamaral.com/docs/soci312-21spring/Exam_online.pdf).

Exams, final exam, and quizzes will not be graded on a curve.

Study groups: You are not competing with others in this class for a grade. Feel free to form study groups to review course materials. However, quizzes and exams are not group projects. Students should complete all quizzes, exams, and assignments individually. Students should not prepare or compare their answers to these activities with the work of others before submitting for a grade.

Extra credit activities: The instructor will provide extra credit points within quizzes and/or assignments.

Department of Sociology Diversity and Civility Statement

The Department of Sociology supports Texas A&M University's commitment to diversity and welcomes individuals of all ages, citizenship, abilities, education, ethnicities, family statuses, genders, gender identities, languages, military experience, political views, races, religions, sexual orientations, socioeconomic statuses, and work experiences (see <http://diversity.tamu.edu/>).

A key component of a university education is exposure to a wide range of ideas, viewpoints, and experiences from people of various backgrounds and fields of study. Sociology as a discipline is not a collection of ideas you must agree with; sociology is the research-driven study of our social world. As such, this course may feature content and discussions that challenge your own deeply-held beliefs. This is to be expected. This is done to encourage you, as a burgeoning social scientist, to learn to examine your beliefs and articulate why you support them. Exposure to sociological frameworks with which you may disagree will also help you gain a competency in navigating differences and discomfort, which you will continue to experience throughout your time at the university, as well as within your career.

This course supports a commitment to life-long learning through respectful and civil discourse. As this is a social science class, discussions are to be framed using rules of evidence and should always be presented in a respectful and civil manner when engaging with fellow students and the instructor. In the spirit of this vital commitment, each voice in the classroom has something of value to contribute to discussions. Everyone is expected to respect the different experiences, beliefs and values expressed by fellow students and the instructor and will engage in reasoned discussion that refrains from derogatory comments and dehumanizing language about other people, cultures, groups, or viewpoints. This applies both inside and outside of the classroom, and includes electronic venues such as GroupMe. Discussions are to be focused on the ideas presented and not the individual. This is paramount to a quality educational experience. Any action(s) that disrupt this standard will not be tolerated and the student may be asked not to participate in further discussion.

The Student Conduct Code Rule 21 regarding classroom behavior will also be strictly enforced:

Texas A&M University supports the principle of freedom of expression for both instructors and students. The university respects the rights of instructors to teach and students to learn. Maintenance of these rights requires classroom conditions that do not impede their exercise. Classroom behavior that seriously interferes with either (1) the instructor's ability to conduct the class or (2) the ability of other students to profit from the instructional program will not be tolerated. An individual engaging in disruptive classroom behavior may be subject to disciplinary action. See 24.4.15. (<https://student-rules.tamu.edu/rule21/>).

If a student is being disruptive or disrespectful (rude, inappropriate, unprofessional, and/or harmful to others) either in the classroom, office hours, or during class-related communications outside of lecture (online or in-person), they will receive one warning from the instructor or TA. However, if the behavior is viewed as seriously disruptive, no warning will be issued, and action will be taken. This may involve immediate removal from class. If negative behavior persists following a warning, the instructor and/or TA will request an in-person meeting with the student and Head or Associate Head of the department to discuss and document a plan for changing behavior. This plan will be signed by the student and forwarded to the Head of the Department of Sociology. Further infractions will immediately involve the Department Head and the Academic Dean (per Rule 21).

Class participation

I will not take attendance each class. You are responsible for your own learning, but your actions affect the entire class. Active participation in class discussion is vital to the shared learning experience. For this to work, everyone must come prepared to class, having done the readings and come prepared to discuss the week's readings in depth. Active participation is premised on respect. Being prepared for class, listening attentively, challenging ideas and not individuals—are all markers of respect in a community of learning. Thus, I expect everyone to attend class and value each other's ideas. Hate speech will not be tolerated.

Learning resources

The mission of the University Writing Center (UWC) is to help you develop and refine the communication skills vital to success in college and beyond. You can choose to work with a trained UWC peer consultant in person or via web conference or email. Consultants can help with everything from lab reports to application essays and at any stage of your process, from brainstorming to reviewing the final draft. You can also get help with public speaking, presentations, and group projects. The UWC's main location is on the second floor of Evans Library; there's also a walk-in location on the second floor of West Campus Library. To schedule an appointment or view our helpful handouts and videos, visit <http://writingcenter.tamu.edu>. Or call (979)458–1455.

Electronic devices

During classes, laptops, tablets, and smartphones should not be used for activities that are not directly related to the course.

Examples of activities unrelated to class include: checking and answering email, texting, scheduling appointments, viewing videos, and viewing websites with materials unrelated to the course.

Examples of activities related to class include: reviewing documents and course materials posted on the web, and examining websites that are visited as part of the lecture. If the policy is not respected, I will ban all devices for non-laptop required sessions.

Student course evaluation

Students should complete the course evaluation on <https://tamu.aefis.net/>. Students can see this step-by-step guide on how to access and respond to the student course evaluations.

Office hours

Office hours are intended to assist students who are seeking help understanding course materials (lectures, readings, lab classes, etc.) and to mentor students. Office hours do not substitute for attendance in class. I will not discuss missed classes unless the student missed those classes because of an authorized excuse. University rules related to excused and unexcused absences are located online at Student Rule 7. As Student Rules state: (1) it is the student's responsibility to attend class; and (2) if I used office hours to substitute for attendance in class, it would be a disservice to students who wish to use office hours to enhance their academic success.

Late work policy

Students are not allowed to submit their course work after the due date. Work submitted by a student as makeup work for an excused absence is not considered late work and is exempted from the late work policy (see Student Rule 7).

University policiesAttendance policy

Students required to quarantine or self-isolate should still participate in courses and course-related activities remotely and must not attend face-to-face course activities. Students under quarantine or self-isolation are expected to participate in courses and complete graded work unless they have symptoms that are too severe to participate in course activities. Instructors teaching courses delivered only face-to-face should work closely with students who are in quarantine or self-isolation to ensure the student keeps up with the work.

Students experiencing personal injury or illness that is too severe for the student to attend class qualify for an excused absence (see Student Rule 7, Section 7.2.2). To receive an excused absence, students must comply with the documentation and notification guidelines outlined in Student Rule 7. While Student Rule 7, Section 7.3.2.1, indicates a medical confirmation note from the student's medical provider is preferred, please be understanding as not all illnesses may require a visit to a physician, especially during this time.

Makeup work policy

Students will be excused from attending class on the day of a graded activity or when attendance contributes to a student's grade, for the reasons stated in Student Rule 7, or other reason deemed appropriate by the instructor.

Please refer to Student Rule 7 in its entirety for information about makeup work, including definitions, and related documentation and timelines.

Absences related to Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 may necessitate a period of more than 30 days for make-up work, and the timeframe for make-up work should be agreed upon by the student and instructor" (Student Rule 7, Section 7.4.1).

"The instructor is under no obligation to provide an opportunity for the student to make up work missed because of an unexcused absence" (Student Rule 7, Section 7.4.2).

Students who request an excused absence are expected to uphold the Aggie Honor Code and Student Conduct Code. (See Student Rule 24.)

Academic integrity statement and policy

"An Aggie does not lie, cheat or steal, or tolerate those who do."

"Texas A&M University students are responsible for authenticating all work submitted to an instructor. If asked, students must be able to produce proof that the item submitted is indeed the work of that student. Students must keep appropriate records at all times. The inability to authenticate one's work, should the instructor request it, may be sufficient grounds to initiate an academic misconduct case" (Section 20.1.2.3, Student Rule 20).

You can learn more about the Aggie Honor System Office Rules and Procedures, academic integrity, and your rights and responsibilities at aggiehonor.tamu.edu.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) policy

Texas A&M University is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for all students. If you experience barriers to your education due to a disability or think you may have a disability, please contact Disability Resources in the Student Services Building or at (979) 845-1637 or visit disability.tamu.edu. Disabilities may include, but are not limited to attentional, learning, mental health, sensory, physical, or chronic health conditions. All students are encouraged to discuss their disability related needs with Disability Resources and their instructors as soon as possible.

Title IX and statement on limits to confidentiality

Texas A&M University is committed to fostering a learning environment that is safe and productive for all. University policies and federal and state laws prohibit gender-based discrimination and sexual harassment, including sexual assault, sexual exploitation, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking.

With the exception of some medical and mental health providers, all university employees (including full and part-time faculty, staff, paid graduate assistants, student workers, etc.) are Mandatory Reporters and must report to the Title IX Office if the employee experiences, observes, or becomes aware of an incident that meets the following conditions (see University Rule 08.01.01.M1):

- The incident is reasonably believed to be discrimination or harassment.
- The incident is alleged to have been committed by or against a person who, at the time of the incident, was (1) a student enrolled at the University or (2) an employee of the University.

Mandatory Reporters must file a report regardless of how the information comes to their attention – including but not limited to face-to-face conversations, a written class assignment or paper, class discussion, email, text, or social media post. Although Mandatory Reporters must file a report, in most instances, a person who is subjected to the alleged conduct will be able to control how the report is handled, including whether or not to pursue a formal investigation. The University's goal is to make sure you are aware of the range of options available to you and to ensure access to the resources you need.

Students wishing to discuss concerns in a confidential setting are encouraged to make an appointment with Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS).

Students can learn more about filing a report, accessing supportive resources, and navigating the Title IX investigation and resolution process on the University's Title IX webpage.

Statement on Mental Health and Wellness

Texas A&M University recognizes that mental health and wellness are critical factors that influence a student's academic success and overall wellbeing. Students are encouraged to engage in healthy self-care by utilizing the resources and services available from Counseling & Psychological Services (CAPS). Students who need someone to talk to can call the TAMU Helpline (979-845-2700) from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m. weekdays and 24 hours on weekends. 24-hour emergency help is also available through the National Suicide Prevention Hotline (800-273-8255) or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org.

COVID-19 Temporary Addendum to Minimum Syllabus Requirements

The Faculty Senate temporarily added the following statements to the minimum syllabus requirements in Spring 2021 as part of the university's COVID-19 response.

Campus Safety Measures

To promote public safety and protect students, faculty, and staff during the coronavirus pandemic, Texas A&M University has adopted policies and practices for the Spring 2021 academic term to limit virus transmission. Students must observe the following practices while participating in face-to-face courses and course-related activities (office hours, help sessions, transitioning to and between classes, study spaces, academic services, etc.):

- Self-monitoring—Students should follow CDC recommendations for self-monitoring. Students who have a fever or exhibit symptoms of COVID-19 should participate in class remotely if that option is available, and should not participate in face-to-face instruction.
- Face Coverings—Face coverings (cloth face covering, surgical mask, etc.) must be properly worn in all non-private spaces including classrooms, teaching laboratories, common spaces such as lobbies and hallways, public study spaces, libraries, academic resource and support offices, and outdoor spaces where 6 feet of physical distancing is difficult to reliably maintain. Description of face coverings and additional guidance are provided in the Face Covering policy and Frequently Asked Questions \(FAQ\) available on the Provost website.
- Physical Distancing—Physical distancing must be maintained between students, instructors, and others in course and course-related activities.
- Classroom Ingress/Egress—Students must follow marked pathways for entering and exiting classrooms and other teaching spaces. Leave classrooms promptly after course activities have concluded. Do not congregate in hallways and maintain 6-foot physical distancing when waiting to enter classrooms and other instructional spaces.
- To attend a face-to-face class, students must properly wear an approved face covering. If a student refuses to wear a face covering, the instructor should ask the student to leave and join the class remotely. If the student does not leave the class, the faculty member should report that student to the Student Conduct office for sanctions. Additionally, the faculty member may choose to teach that day's class remotely for all students, or dismiss the class in the case of a traditional face to face lecture.

Personal Illness and Quarantine

Students required to quarantine must participate in courses and course-related activities remotely, if that option is available, and must not attend face-to-face course activities. Students should notify their instructors of the quarantine requirement. Students under quarantine are expected to participate in courses and complete graded work unless they have symptoms that are too severe to participate in course activities.

Students experiencing personal injury or illness that is too severe for the student to attend class qualify for an excused absence (See Student Rule 7, Section 7.2.2.) To receive an excused absence, students must comply with the documentation and notification guidelines outlined in Student Rule 7.
